in the long game rush doshi demonstrates that china is in fact playing a long methodical game to replace america as a global hegemon drawing from a rich base of chinese primary sources including decades worth of party documents and memoirs by party leaders he traces the basic evolution of chinese strategy showing how it evolved in response to changes in us policy and the us position in the world order china's maritime gray zone operations represent a new challenge for the u.s. navy and the sea services of our allies, partners and friends in maritime east asia. there, beijing is waging what some chinese sources term a war without gunsmoke, already winning in important areas. china could gain far more if left unchecked. one of china's greatest advantages thus far has been foreign difficulty in understanding the situation, let alone determining an effective response. with contributions from some of the world's leading subject matter experts, this volume aims to close that gap by explaining the forces and doctrines driving china's paranaul expansion operating in the gray zone between war and peace. the book covers china's major maritime forces beyond core gray-hulled navy units, with particular focus on china's second and third sea forces, the white-hulled coast guard and blue-hulled maritime militia. increasingly, these paranaul forces and the gray zone in which they typically operate are on the frontlines of china's seaward expansion.
